Peary Flow of Oil was Reported and Much Excitement was Caused Throughout the Gity Last Night by the Reports The Eagle Office was Waited Upon by Delegations From Different Lodges—While the Drill is Working in Oil Rock There is Cause for Excitement.

Last night there was a report on the Street that wil had been reached at the well, and so stroing was the flow that crude oil was flowing out of the top.

The report spread like wild fire, and to give authenticity to the report some one started the great chime bells loose on the great disk, if and Mrs. A. H. Delpe and saucers; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Coleman, cup and saucers; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Williams, cup and saucers; Mr. and Mrs. A. Covington, fruit disk, Mr. and Mrs.

The report speead like wild fire, and to give authenticity to the report some one started the great chime bells loose at the Eagle office. The news reached the crowded lodge rooms, and it was impossible to do business, and as a consequence a delegation from each lodge was sent to the Eagle office to get the truth of the rumor.

At the bottom of the stairs the delegation met, and the committee headed by Newt Garst, Dr. Matthews, A. J. Jackman, R. P. Faries and twenty others filed into the Eagle local room when the chime bells were ringing for and the latest news from the well. The visit of the committee was the first knowledge the reporters had that the chimes were in motion, and if there was such a flow of oil as reported at the well this office was in ignorance of the fact as a reporter had not heard from the well since t o'clock, when he had accompanied Mayor Cox and others on the evening was spent very pleasant.

At the time of the visit the great obstacle spoken of in Saturday's article had been overcome and all connected with the well were in high glee. The firll was working in trenton rock which was filled with crude petrolum oil. Buckets holding forty gailon each had been lowered and soon the drill hole was cleared not only of water but of all

A heavy scum would rise an each bucket-fall and it was figured yesterday by the men at the well together with the city engineer, that the oil being found at the bottom of the well and rising to a beighth of 300 feet from the bottom, where it was found in the moraling that the oil had a pressure of over 100 pounds to the square inch, and they felt confident that a good flow of oil would be reached within a short time.

The men at the well promised that in case a heavy flow was reached during the night they would send word to the Eagle office, and at the time of writing this, 12 o'clock, no such report has reached that office, and it is probable that the report on the street was founded more on the hepefulness expressed during the day than from actual facts.

There was as much difference in a visit to the well yesterday to what it was Saturday as though it was not the same place. Saturday disappointment ras Saturday as though it was not the same place. Saturday disappointment, dispost, disheart-dness and chargin was discernable upon every face, while yes-erday all was cheerfulness and hope-nincies. intention, however, was to have a big dance and a mighty good time and if the merry ring of their laughter, as they started away in a big wagon, was any indication, they had it. The occa-sion was the visit of some of Mrs. Dris-coll's friends from the east and her son from Oklahoma. The party that start-

While the fire dance was at its highest they were joined by another hackdriver by the name of Edward Jenkins, better known as "Pin Joint." The three men with the flames arising from Dan Stewart, the plucky Texan who has bucked governors and legislatures in an effort to pull off the prize fight between Corbeit and Fitzsimmons, and their huge feet began a regular can-can upon the platform with all the gestures of a regular Klowa chief. It was a novel sight and as long as the flames did no other harm than keep the three figures dancing, spltting and expostulating the by-standers agreed with themselves that nothing should occur to mar the beauty of the dance. They were on fire. A dote could see that much. The flames were doing no particular harm. The crowd was swelling. The interest was growing when some one yelled "On with the dance; let onfined;" and the dance went

Finally the Hawkshaw of the police force threw off his cost and attempted to smother out the flames which were rising from his feet. Unfortunately he had on his frock cont and the flames broke out anew from between the silt in the tail of his coat, and to remedy this he grabbed his vest and covered over the crevise.

The hack-drivers followed suit and in a little time their inflamed feet were perfectly smothered and the flames were extinguished. When the policeman and two hackdrivers sat down upon the cold, cold platform to talk it over, and figure out how it had happened. After we can sell groceries so much cheaper than others is this: We purchase in such large quantities and at "first hands" that we are enabled to retail our stock at wholesale prices. When you trade here you get your goods at the same price as the small dealers pay to the jobbers. This is why they tell you that "they don't see how we can do it," that "we can't keep it up long" and "our goods must be poor," etc., etc. Now if you will look over the following list of prices you will turn over a new leaf the first of the year and deal with a cash store and not pay for the "deadbeats" groceries. We sell so many goods that our stock is always fresh. You will never see any old or shelf-worn stock in our store. We think that the fol-

The Reason Why
